Gompers Tells of Results of League Gathering to Be Nonpartisan Campaign Thus Far.

(Public Ledger Service.) Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor and head of the "Nonpartisan" campaign committee of that organization yesterday launched another broadside in behalf of the Democratic party. It is a labor analysis of the political situation and it purports to set forth, for the first time, what labor has accomplished in its "nonpartisan" campaign so far. It says, in part:

"Joe Bailey, of Texas, attempted to induce the voters of that State to return to normal and the voters decided to send Mr. Bailey a great deal further back than that. In the Alabama primaries Senator Underwood, nominated six years ago by a majority of 44,000, found his majority reduced to 15,000 by an electorate that to that extent showed its determination not to return to normal. In Colorado Senator Thomas declined even to make the effort to induce the voters to return to normal by withdrawing from the race for re-election. In Oklahoma the nomination of Scott Perry for United States Senator over Senator Gore was a clear indication of the desire of the people of that State to go forward and not backward."

GALLERY GETS RARE PAINTINGS

Ralph Cross Johnson Gives Twenty-four Old Masters To Smithsonian.

HUNG IN SPECIAL ROOM

Collection Will Be Kept Together as Memorial to Donor.

A gift of twenty-four choice old masters has been made to the National Gallery of Art, here, by Ralph Cross Johnson. According to George B. Rose, writing in the September number of "Art and Archaeology," published by the Washington by the Archaeological Institute of America, the collection is one "seldom paralleled."

The gift of the Johnson collection, which includes splendid examples of the British, Florentine, Bolognese, Venetian, Dutch and Flemish schools of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, is unique from the fact that the donor is still living.

$3,270 IN RUM TAKEN IN RAID

Three Arrested, One Former Policeman, After Hot Auto Chase.

Liquor valued at $3,270 was captured by the "flying squad" of the Internal Revenue Bureau last night after a hot chase through the city streets in pursuit of an automobile said to contain contraband, in which were three men, one a former policeman. All three were arrested, and later released on bond.

After a vigil of several weeks the members of the squad last night observed three men drive from the garage in the rear of 520 Taylor street northwest. The squad started in pursuit of the car and arrested the men at Fifteenth and K streets.

The men have the names of William Haywood Garth, of 653 East Capitol street; John Joseph O'Connor, of 57 New York avenue northwest; and Fred Herman Midendorf, of 530 Taylor street northwest. Garth several years ago was a member of the Metropolitan police force.

The revenue officers say they found twenty-six quarts of rum in the machine. A search of the garage later revealed sixteen cases, which were also taken in the raid. In all there were 218 quarts of liquor.

RED CROSS ENTERTAINS 3,298 IN 6 MONTHS

The flying squad comprised Internal Revenue Agents Harold H. Stephenson and Linton F. Evans. Detective W. W. Wheeler, Lieut. Stoll, and Private Cullinan, of the Tenth precinct.

The squad in its chase used two motorcycles and one automobile.

According to a report of Mrs. Ida M. Galloway, chairman of the District of Columbia chapter of the Red Cross, a total of 3,298 patients in the hospitals of Washington were entertained by the six divisions of the comforts section during the past six months.

The work of the divisions included excursions and outings, comfort boxes, sweaters, articles of clothing, crutches, walking sticks, books, magazines and periodicals, given to the patients in local hospitals.

Announcement was also made of the resumption of the Red Cross food classes under the direction of Edith Allen dietitian, at the Red Cross chapter house, 16 Jackson place northwest.

Classes will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 2:30 to 3:45 p. m.; 4:45 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 8 p. m. All desiring to register are requested to communicate with Inez Cadel, acting director of the teaching center, or to call Main 1919.

Plan Caravan to Harding.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 19.—There is prospect that Parkersburg alone will enter 200 automobiles in the Republican caravan to visit Senator Harding at Marion, leaving September 22 at 10 a. m. Judge J. J. Vandervort, of Parkersburg, will make the address presenting the West Virginia pilgrims to Senator Harding. It is thought at least 1,000 automobiles will be included in the itinerary.

SUNDAY THEATER OPENINGS

Gaiety—Dave Marion's Show.

"The Land of Impossible," a colorful musical revue in fourteen scenes is the title of the entertainment presented by Dave Marion's Own Company at the Gaiety Theater this week. Its presentation is under the personal direction of Mr. Marion, who recently retired as the company's chief comedian in order to devote his entire time to the management of his enterprises.

The organization is particularly notable for the cast it carries, its roster containing the names of many stellar luminaries of the burlesque world. Foremost among these is Emil Casper, blackface comedian, whose success as a laugh-promoter has gained for him a wide following. Will H. Ward, an eccentric comedian, makes an admirable foil to the unctuous humor of Casper. Other notables are Inez De Verrier, George Mack, Rose Bernard, Myrtle Franks, Albert Dwinell, Thomas Duffy and Jack Honeywell.

Several vaudeville acts are presented in addition by the Byron Brothers saxo band, consisting of seven unusually talented instrumentalists who blend harmony, melody and syncopation in a manner peculiar to themselves, and Spellman & Harnage, singers and dancers extraordinary.

Then there's a typical Marion comedy consisting of twenty-four girls of grace and charm, who are appraised in costumes that dazzle the eye and who are much in evidence in the many singing and dancing numbers which the program provides.

Loew's Palace—Charles Ray in "The Village Sleuth"

Another of those breezy and refreshing village comedy roles, with a romantic and poignant love story as the background, brings Charles Ray, the splendid and virile young photoplay star, to the screen of Loew's Palace Theater for the full week beginning yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ray's latest starring production is "The Village Sleuth," by Agnes Christine Johnson, directed by Jarome Storm with a cast of rare brilliance that includes Winifred Westover as leading woman; Donald MacDonald, George F. Hernandez, Lew Morrison and others.

Mr. Ray, in this production is seen as William Wells, a farmer boy with detective ambitions. His efforts to solve the raiding of the Wells' water-melon patch meet with such unexpected results that William widens his field by accepting a job at a sanatorium where he meets Patsy Wagner, a chorus lady, a tired business man named Richley and an escaped convict named Keane.

When Mr. Richley suddenly disappears and several persons are accused, Pinky, the chorus girl is accused. William has succumbed to the charms of Pinky in the meantime and the manner in which he clears her of suspicion and wins her for a bride makes one of the most hilariously comic and down-right tender love stories the screen has carried in weeks.

"The Village Sleuth" is supplemented as usual by an extraordinary array of added stage and screen attractions. The extra added feature of the program will be another of those riotous Sunshine comedies, "His Wife's Caller." Other subjects will include a splendid symphonic overture, the news picture, Nutt and Jeff cartoon, Topical Tips, scenic and other numbers.

Loew's Columbia—"Humoresque"

Mighty in its dramatic power, sweeping in its force and characterization, "Humoresque," the brilliant and extraordinary Paramount photoplay adaptation of Fannie Hurst's famous story of the same name, which originally appeared in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, began its third triumphant week of continuous presentation at Loew's Columbia Theater yesterday.

"Humoresque" has already proved itself as the master-picture of 1920. It has shattered, in the past two weeks, every attendance record at Loew's Columbia Theater. Thousands of persons have already witnessed showings of this classic of love and joy and tears and the present week will doubtless be marked by the same overwhelming attendance conditions.

"Humoresque" is the story of a man's dream of musical fame and fortune for her son. It is back-grounded into a moving epic of pathos, happiness, tears and laughter and it has been aptly called "the laugh of life with a sob behind it." Parallel to the main theme of the story runs a golden thread of romantic appeal that makes "Humoresque" one of the most powerful photoplays presentation ever seen in Washington.

The cast is unusually fine and includes Vera Gordon, Gaston Glass, Alma Rubens, Miriam Battista, Bobby Connelly and many other players. Constituting one of the distinct highlights of the "Humoresque" program at the Columbia is the splendid musical prologue that precedes showings of the feature. It consists of a baritone rendition of the famous Hebrew traditional "Eli, Eli," by Mr. Irving Jackson, violin solo. "Humoresque," (Dvorak) and other added screen and musical numbers.

Both Released.

The arrest was made after the Third precinct had a "visitor," who informed Desk Sgt. Billman that he knew where he could purchase some liquor. The "visitor" said that he could purchase a half pint of whisky for $1.00 and that amount was given him by the police.

Marked money was used in making the purchase, but was not found when the women were arrested, it is said.

Three quarts and three half pints of whisky were found in the house, police say. Both were released on bond.

Police Dry Squad Gets Into Action

And Arrests Tell How District Is Co-operating with Enforcement Men

Local police are co-operating with the Federal authorities to the fullest extent in the enforcement of the national prohibition act, Maj. Harry L. Gessford, superintendent of police, stated yesterday.

A detail of police known as the "flying squad" has been assigned to handle all phases of the prohibition act and recently made several arrests for alleged violations of that act.

Composed of Picked Men.

The "flying squad" is composed of picked men from each police precinct. They are in charge of all raids conducted on stills, searching for persons who transport liquor and other alleged violations of the law.

Internal Revenue agents work with the police liquor squad and assist in the raids and investigations made by the police.

George Mordella Nickens and Luberta Braxton, both colored, were arrested at 2194 L street northwest yesterday by police of the Third precinct and Internal Revenue agents, charged with violation of the national prohibition act.

VET AUXILIARY BIDS FAREWELL

Washington Saturday made farewell to 600 women who attended the Veterans of Foreign Wars national encampment held here last week.

These women belong to the Ladies Auxiliary, which is composed of mothers, wives, sisters or daughters of soldiers, sailors and Marines who saw foreign service in time of war.

On Friday the auxiliary elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Pearl Hartung, Denver, Col.; senior vice president, Mrs. Lena Panzer, Detroit, Mich.; junior vice president, Mrs. Kate Hutchinson, Oakland, Cal.; treasurer, Mrs. Dora Raffensberger, Chicago; chaplain, Mrs. G. M. Purdy, Providence, R. I.; director, Mrs. R. King, New York; council of administration, Mrs. G. M. Armstrong, Pittsburgh; Mrs. G. Kerns, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Lydia Riegel, Plant City, Fla.; Mrs. Ann Howard, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Florence Stark, Camden, N. J.

Yesterday, the last business day of the convention, was given over to the installation of the new officers by Chaplain Smith, of Camp Leavenworth; adoption of new by-laws; the presentation of a diamond link ring to Mrs. Lydia Riegel, retiring president, of Plant City, Fla., and large baskets of flowers to the other retiring officers by members of the auxiliary.

Commissioner Hendrick Initiated Into Office Details By Col. Kutz.

The District government will begin its work next week with a full Board of Commissioners for the first time in many months.

The scheduled arrival of Mabel T. Boardman from her summer home in Canada next Friday and her subsequent induction into office will bring the board to its normal strength again.

Work Facilitated.

This will mean, among other things, a more even distribution of the Commissioners' work. During the months following the resignation of former Commissioner W. Gwynn Gardiner, Commissioner Brownlow and Kutz did three men's work. This entailed long hours and much unnecessary labor.

Commissioner Hendrick these days is going through what eventually Mabel Boardman must undergo when she arrives. Yesterday morning Commissioners Hendrick and Kutz conferred for more than two hours in the latter's office, going over routine matters, while Col. Kutz further instructed the new Commissioner in the duties of his office.

Hendrick Adeptly Initiated.

Col. Kutz is not the only instructor of Commissioner Hendrick. Daniel E. Garges, secretary of the Board of Commissioners, daily shows him new points in the many-sided post. Walter C. Allen, secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, will lead the new Commissioner into the maze of statistics bearing on Washington's public service corporations.

The departments are functioning uninterruptedly, apparently unconscious of the fact that the District has two new heads. No changes of note in the regular routine are looked for at present, and it is probable that they will come before the new year.
